

So you think if you can buy it, it's 'safe'? ...Think again!

People commonly think that pesticides, even EPA-approved pesticides, wouldn't be available over the counter unless they were 'safe'. On the contrary, there are plenty of very toxic pesticides that are registered by the EPA and state regulatory agencies available right now in your local grocery or home supply store. Here is just one example....

Gopher Getter is a bait which is used for the control of gophers. It is an EPA-approved pesticide for gophers and available over-the-counter.

- ✓ ALWAYS READ THE LABEL
- ✓ KNOW WHAT YOU'RE APPLYING

25 kids, each weighing 40-lbs., could be poisoned to death with the amount of strychnine in just one 1-lb. container of Gopher Getter.

The EPA rates pesticide toxicity according to
Caution = lowest toxicity, Warning = moderate toxicity, Danger = highest toxicity

It is up to YOU to use pesticides responsibly
